Slash in Sugar Price For Consumer Next Aim of U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The government's next move in the sugar situation will be an attempt to bring down prices to consumers. This will be more difficult than the winning of the suit filed yesterday against alleged sugar gamblers, officials admitted today. It may be impossible, they said, if the suit filed in New York will not do it.

That suit, they said privately, does not hit the real culprits in the sugar gouge. It hits only the agents of the actual owners of vast supplies of sugar, who, according to officials here, are engaged in a conspiracy to increase sugar prices and who have masked their operations behind a screen of gamblers and speculators, at whom yesterday's suit was aimed.

Manipulations of sugar prices on the New York exchange were, in other words, "arranged," the government said, to cloak a worse plot to levy tribute on the American sugar consumer.

JURY ORDERS ROUNDUP OF PROMOTERS

704,450 Stockholders De- clared Victims of Alleged Fraud Gang

(By United Press Leased Wire)

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 20.

—Indictments charging ninety-two oil promoters and associates with using the mails to defraud were returned by a federal grand jury here today.

Those named in the indictments included Dr. Frederick A. Cook, former Arctic explorer and E. C. Kingsbury, prominent Texas politician.

The indictments involved fifteen separate promotions, including some of the most prominent in Texas, held responsible for an alleged gigantic swindle involving millions of dollars annually and extending to all sections of the United States.

Arrests of those named in the indictments were ordered to be made immediately and United States marshals armed with warrants hurried from the federal building immediately after the grand jury report was returned.

Bonds of from $5,000 to $10,000 were to be asked in each case.

Dr. Cook and a number of other promoters were recently arrested in connection with the alleged swindle. Their arrests were ordered in advance of the grand jury report.

Among the individual companies named in the indictments today were:

Petroleum Producers association; Producers Oil company; Pilgrim Oil company; Hoog Creek Caruth company; J. W. Caruth Oil company; Consolidated Producers and Refiners company; General Lee Development interests; Louisiana Lease syndicate; Dorado Oil Syndicate and Texas Mexia Drill-in syndicate.

According to a statement by Federal District Attorney Henry Zweifel, based on the government's evidence, outstanding stock of the companies involved totals $17,395,600 and the total amount of money they have taken in is $7,044,500.

Noteworthy among the companies involved are the three big Fort Worth "mergers"—the Petroleum Producers association, the Revere Oil company and the Pilgrim Oil company.

The companies named in the indictments, according to District Attorney Zweifel, had a total of about 704,450 stockholders.

RENEW MOVE FOR MEXICO RECOGNITION

Obregon Government Plans to Meet Objection of Americans to Changes in Laws.

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—Negotiations toward recognition of Mexico by the United States, which have been at a standstill for several months, have been resumed, the United Press learned today. It is reliably reported that Mexico is taking steps toward certain amendments and concessions to break the present impasse.

It is said that fifteen others are due to be arrested on similar charges.

It was reported some days ago that scrap iron had been thrown into wells, machinery ruined and other acts of sabotage performed in the field. Deputy sheriffs investigated and arrested the sixteen men.

It was reported that the I. W. W. organization in the oil fields now numbers more than 400 members. Labor papers recently announced that much radical literature was being distributed in the fields.

It was also reported here that three alleged I. W. W. are in the Orange county jail on syndicalism charges following their arrest at the Huntington Beach field, where there are said to be 300 I. W. W. members.

All other business was sidetracked by the new grand jury this afternoon when evidence of the sabotage plot was placed before it and many indictments are likely to result, it is said.

Thirteen individuals were fined from $2500 to $5000 each and twenty-three corporations—controlling eighty per cent of the pottery production of the country—were fined from $2500 to $5000.

GREATER S. A. CLUB IS CONGRATULATED

The Greater Santa Ana club today was in receipt of congratulations on its first of a series of advertisements, which appeared yesterday in the Los Angeles Times, urging that prospective Southern California settlers investigate the advantages of Santa Ana and Orange county.

S. D. Koch, realtor of Santa Monica, who caressed that city in instituting a similar publicity campaign, and C. G. Milham, executive secretary of the All-Year club of Southern California, with headquarters in Los Angeles, both wrote letters of congratulation to Everett A. White, president of the Greater Santa Ana club.

Koch said that "the closing paragraph of the text matter is a wonderful drive and if you never accomplish any more except the publicity of that closing paragraph you have brought wonderful work before the public."

Milham said the advertisement "told a great story," the recital of which "is destined to bring Santa Ana and Orange county great results."

SLAIN GIRL'S FATHER HELD IN THEFT CASE

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Fred Tremaine, father of Alberta Meadows, who was slain by Clara Phillips' hammer, is in jail today on a charge of stealing ten fountain pens and two pencils from an automobile belonging to J. G. West, a salesman. Tremaine was recently charged with grand larceny for an asserted automobile theft.

A. H. Bradley, Orange county salesman for the Burroughs Adding Machine company, today was rejoicing in the fact that he has won the honor of a trip back to Detroit at the company's expense, on his record for 1922 of creating a greater volume of sales than any other salesman in the district including Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

The agency headquarters for the district is in Riverside. Bradley lives in Santa Ana, as does J. L. Price, who is an inspector for the district.

The district organization won the director's cup for the highest standing of performance in the efficiency test for 1922. It was credited with $602 of a possible 1000 points. Agencies competing numbered 250. Points were based on volume of sales, service efficiency and collection of accounts.

Eight persons are employed in the Riverside office. The two men here were included in the number.

Bradley was the only salesman reaching the quota necessary to win the trip to Detroit.

"Our office made a record of 100 per cent in collections," said Bradley. "This points in a concrete way to the prosperity of the district. No other agency attained the same record in this respect."

Bradley will go East in July to attend the annual meeting of the All-Star club of the organization. The company will pay all his expenses.

AUTO VICTIMS NAME FILM STAR IN SUIT

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Two suits for $15,000 damages against Richard Walton Tully, playwright, were on file here today. The suits arose from injuries incurred by Annette Eustace and James C. Flanagan on March 14, when the playwright's machine is said to have struck and overturned a car in which they were riding. The woman seeks $10,000 and the man $5,000.

FARMER BURNED

HEDRICK, Is., April 20.—Harold Hults, 30 years old, a farmer living five miles northwest of Hedrick, was seriously burned and injured when he was run over by a tractor in his field. He was turning around, when the seat broke and he was thrown to the ground. The tractor was in reverse and struck him. The accident occurred about 6 o'clock and he was not found for two hours.

Mr. Harding's utterances here on foreign affairs were interpreted today as constituting an avowal that the United States has made no commitments abroad in the present embroil in central Europe and also an answer to recently published articles abroad to the effect that he was promoting a new association of nations.

Mr. Harding's vacation will be brought to an end today. He will leave Augusta tonight by special train, going straight through to Washington, arriving Sunday noon.

All Columbia Records are now made by the new process

EVERY Columbia Record made since the Columbia new process was perfected, has been constructed with the super-quiet new surface.

Not only has this added musical charm been given to the rich symphonic selections, but also to the songs of the hour, the latest dance music, and the always dear old-fashioned melodies.

Never since the phonograph was invented have the music-loving public been able to listen to phonographic music so nearly like the original unmarred melody, so delightfully free from the scratch and scrape of needle noise.

This never-before-known surface quietness results from the Columbia process of constructing records in layers or leaves—a hard centre core overlaid with a material of such exquisite smoothness that the noise of needle friction is never created.

An example of this great musical accomplishment go to any Columbia Dealer and ask to hear record A-3819. It is that noted organization, the Fisk University Jubilee Singers, singing two of their famous negro spirituals, "My Soul is a Witness for My Lord," and "Give Way Jordan." It is as if these wonderful colored voices were in the same room with you. And as you listen, note the absence of that old, irritating grinding sound of the needle.

All Columbia New Process Records are equally delightful. They can be played on any phonograph.

The Columbia process is patented. Only in Columbia New Process Records can you secure this perfect reproduction of perfect music.

SUPPORTERS OF LEAGUE PACT
TO MEET

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, April 20.—Lord
Robert Cecil, reputed author of the League of Nations covenant, came to Washington today to discuss with Woodrow Wilson, its chief American champion, the campaign for bringing the United States into the league.

Cecil brought with him a cross section view of American public opinion on the league. In contact with audiences in American cities, Cecil, an avowed missionary for the league in this country, was able to observe the latest American reaction to this issue.

He will be able to give Wilson his judgment on the probabilities of success for a campaign, led by the former president, in behalf of unconditional and complete American membership in the court.

The meeting of the two league enthusiasts far overshadowed in significance Cecil's meeting with President Harding. The British statesman, arriving here shortly after noon, will call at once on the president. Cecil knows in advance that he will receive no encouragement from Mr. Harding and their discussion of the league issue is expected to center almost entirely about the Harding plan for American adhesion to the world court.

Plan Early Meeting.

The exact time of the call on Wilson is not yet known. It will be arranged by Henry White, former United States ambassador to France, whose guest Lord Cecil will be while here. It probably will be today or tomorrow.

What Cecil tells Wilson probably will not change the latter's determination to make a fight this year and next, for American entrance into the league, even though Cecil's "size up" be most unfavorable. Wilson is reported as believing that the league issue needs only a leader to make it alive and naturally regards himself as the logical leader.

FARM BLOC SENATOR

WICHITA, Kan., April 20.—Participation of the United States in the international court of justice,
as proposed by President Harding, would be the first real step toward economic restoration and permanent world peace, Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas, declared in a speech here last night.

May 12 has been set as the date of a mysterious affair to be staged announced today by P. S. Lucas, secretary. The nature and details of the affair are not being disclosed.

E. L. Vegely, city clerk, and Kenneth Morrison, deputy county clerk, have definitely settled May 12 at the Santa Ana high school grounds as the time and the place for the city versus county baseball game. Only employees of city or county will be allowed in the teams, according to the rules formulated
by the opposing captains. Vegely for which try-outs will be held Tuesday night at a place so far not designated.

she has been adjudged inefficient in its care, and the spinster public health worker claims the baby. She goes further and seeks to supervise the child from its conception and thus mitigate the burdens of Eve.

WHEDON QUILTS
AS MANAGER OF BUREAU

Calling upon voters to support the $150,000 bond issue, proposed for the financing of grammar school buildings and alterations here, the Santa Ana board of education today issued a statement as a result of the board's tour of inspection of the city's schools yesterday.

It said:

"The Santa Ana board of education made a tour of inspection of the building plans of the old board building forenoon, and after a very careful inspection of the site for the new junior high school and Washington, one room, unanimously approved the plans of the old board, and therefore are calling upon the voters of Santa Ana to cooperate with the present board of education by voting for the $150, 000 bonds needed to carry out the plans of the board in making the foregoing additions and purchasing one or more sites for future buildings, and provide the much needed accommodations to meet the increased attendance for next year."

"These bonds were voted in December by a good majority, but on account of an error in drawing up the legal proceedings, they could not be sold. This will be corrected in this election."

The board found the foregoing named schools filled to their full capacity and more, for at the Franklin school the small stage of the assembly and kindergarten room is being used for a classroom and more than thirty pupils are being crowded into this room.
All of the sixth grade pupils are being transported from this school to the Jefferson school on account of the crowded conditions at Franklin.

"The voters of Santa Ana have an opportunity to co-operate with the board of education in solving the problem of over-crowded conditions in our schools by going to the polls Tuesday, April 24, and voting for the $150,000 bonds. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Voters will vote at the same voting precincts used by the city in the two recent elections."

L. Andrews, secretary; M. L.
Keeler, Charles F. Smith, Dr. Roy Horton."

ACCUSED IN WILL BATTLE FIGHT BACK'ZEKE'S BUNCH' TO HOLD BIG PICNIC

"Zeke's bunch" will picnic at Orange county park June 9, 1923.

This became known today when it was stated that letters were being prepared for forwarding to members of the "bunch."

The "bunch" is composed of men and women of today who years ago were boys and girls attending the Tustin school when J. J. Zellian of this city, was principal.

"Zeke" was an endearing term
the pupils used in referring to Prof.
Zellian at the time they were going to school, and to him today is
"Zeke."

The committee of old schoolmates of the Tustin school responsible for the issuance of the letters to all old pupils of the old school is composed of W. C. Jerome, county auditor; C. Lamb, county tax collector; Charles Morris, bean buyer; Byron Crawford, manager of the Tustin Hills Citrus association;
Mrs. Roy Smith and Miss Clara Macomber.

The letters will be directed to all former pupils of the school with whom the committee can get in touch.

The picnic is an annual event. It is an all-day affair. The program has not been developed.

RADICAL GROUP

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The radical Republican group in the next Congress is going after tax revision legislation with a vengeance. It is not only going to have a comprehensive revenue revision program for Congress, but it is also intent upon making it a political issue and hopes to stir up excitement when the time comes for drafting a national party platform and picking a candidate for the presidency.

Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, has already framed the tentative tax revision program for submissio

gressional group self styled "the

Y. W. C. A. MEET PLANS HERE SPEEDED

Final plans for the big Southern California Junior College Y. W. C. A. conference to be held here April 27, are being made today and tomorrow by cabinet members.

A hundred delegates are expected and conference plans include luncheon on Friday, an afternoon session with Miss Alice Hoyt, Field student secretary, and Miss Lillie Margaret Sherman, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at the University of California in charge, a tea, an automobile trip, a banquet in James' gold room and an evening session.

Headquarters for the conference will be in the new Y. W. C. A. hut and local members are proudly planning to show off the new building.

Miss Isabel Anderson, director of the local association, was in Los Angeles today in conference with Miss Hoyt, who is enthusiastic over a junior college conference and predicts much success for it.

WOLVES ABOUND ON DREARY PLAINS OF TARTAR LAND

KAZAN, April 15.—The wolves have come back to the steppes. In the cold winter nights on the wind-swept plains of the Tartar republic, the nomadic tribes report more wolves have been seen this year than for decades past. They have grown so bold that they howl at the very doors of the dugouts of mud houses that the wandering Tehuvasch and Bashkin people inhabit in the winter in place of their summer tents.

In the Tartar republic, the Tehuvasch and Bashkin territories, more than 40,000 head of cattle have already been destroyed by the wolves this winter. This destruction among live stock already depleted by the famine, is so serious that the government has launched a campaign throughout the province to kill the wolves. Huge hunts are being organized.

JAIL SUSPECTS IN WHOLESALE BURGLARIES

Authorities believed that the mystery of a series of wholesale burglaries, in which Orange county business men have been victimized, was solved, as two men, arrested on suspicion at Oceanside last night, were being held for possible identification.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Officer H. S. Warner and Special Detective Yoder of the Nick Harris agency here left today for Oceanside to question the men, and if possible, identify quantities of woolen cloth, clothing and other articles which police say were found in the possession of the men when they were arrested.

TELL 15-MILE CHASE.

The pair in custody were Ignacio Siguas and Adolfo Valencia.

About 5 p.m. yesterday an intern revenue man saw the pair leave Tustin in an automobile which he recognized as that belonging to H. Valenzuela, who is held in San Diego on immigration charges. The revenue man notified City Marshall Fred M. Sickler, Oceanside, who found that the man had just passed through that town. He pursued them for about 15 miles before overtaking them, and placed them under arrest.

In the light truck which they were driving, according to Sickler, were driving, according to Sickler, were driving, according to Sickler, such as were stolen from the Lutz tailor shop here last week, a number of overcoats, silk underwear, suits and other articles of a miscellaneous nature.

DESCRIPTION TALES.

One of the men answers the description of a Mexican who was said to have purchased a pair of snippers which were used in entering the Mayo brothers dry goods store several weeks ago.

The depredations of the "whole-sale burglars" as they came to be called, have totalled many thousands of dollars in Orange county, and several thousand in San Bernardino county where they also operated, authorities declared. The two men held gave their homes as Los Angeles.

DENY CLIMATE OF AMERICA IS CHANGING

WASHINGTON, April 15.—There is no basis for the belief that this portion of the earth is undergoing a general change in climate, the United States weather bureau stated, in response to numerous inquiries.

The fact that the past two years have been unusually mild in most parts of the United States has inspired the belief that the warm periods are growing longer.

Records can be furnished to disprove the contention, the bureau stated.

"Periods have occurred in the past and will occur again, when for a few years the weather has seemed or will seem to be noticeably warmer or colder than the average," the bureau said.

"While there are well recognized alterations in climatic conditions, as of wet and dry, hot and cold, etc., little is known with regard to definite laws of sequence of weather conditions over extended periods of years. Within ordinary historic times there is practically no evidence that there has been a definite and progressive change in the climate in one direction or the other, but rather that the same sort of alterations are now succeeding each other indefinitely, as in earlier historic times.

"It is also believed that the amount of change, if any, is too small and the extent of the territory involved too indefinite to be of economic interest. Until definite knowledge is available concerning the law of sequence of weather conditions and possible periodic cycles affecting the weather are quantitatively established, scientific long range forecasting is impracticable."

ENTERTAINMENT IS GIVEN BY STUDENTS

Funds for the junior high school P.T. A. were considerably augmented today following a pleasing little entertainment presented last night at the assembly room by pupils directed by Miss Edith Cornell.

Members and friends of the organization gathered at the assembly room in large numbers and were rewarded by hearing a program opening with a mixed chorus, "Howdy-do." "Country Cousins" was given as a reading by three young people and the Girls' Glee club sang two numbers, "Goblets of Youth" and "The Last Chord."

A clarinet solo by Raymond Lurrell was followed by a playlet, "Trouble at Satterlee!" by the Every Girls' club and that in turn by a selection from the opera which the Boys' Glee club will present May 21-22.

A second playlet, "The Popular Dick" by five girls and five boys, and a song, "The New Dance" by the girls' chorus, ended the successful program.

Wall-paintings which have been hidden under whitewash for 600 years are now being restored at Paston Church, Norfolk, England.

CHARTER FOES HIT PETITION ON MANAGER

The committee of charter opponents conducting the recent fight against the proposed charter will not co-operate in circulating a petition to the new city council asking a trial of the city manager form, according to Martin Shields, one of the group.

According to Shields, the committee met last night and discussed the matter of co-operation in the drafting and circulating of a petition requesting the council to install a city manager on trial.

In the early part of the week Shields declared that if such a petition were circulated he would sign it. He expressed the belief that most of the opponents would sign.

It was upon his statement that the Chamber of Commerce took action in directing the civic affairs committee to initiate a movement for a petition if the opposition would co-operate.

"Sentiment of the meeting last night was that the new city council should be left to work out its own plan of city government," said Shields today.

"They were elected because they were considered competent to conduct city affairs, and the opinion was expressed that nothing should be done to influence their action in the development of a program of action."

Shields pointed out that in his opinion a majority of the council members were for the charter, and intimated that if they believed a city manager a necessity for Santa Ana it should not be necessary for a petition to urge a trial of the plan.

Manassas was a representative of the Lower California water company.

PRESIDENT OF MEXICO TO RETIRE

NOGALES, Ariz., April 5.—A delegation of President Obregon of Mexico to the press in connection with the presidential election of 1924, that in Don Adolfo de la Huerta the nation has nothing to fear has started speculation and grooming of presidential candidates.

Already a number of men of supposed presidential timber are being discussed, including de la Huerta, who is now finance minister, and General Plutarco Elias Calles, minister of the interior.

Among the others mentioned are Raoul Madero, brother of the late President Francisco I. Madero, who was assassinated in 1913, and General Antonio Villareal, former minister of agriculture and development.

Francisco de la Barra, who was provisional president a short time after the overthrow of Porfirio Diaz, is mentioned as a possible candidate of the Catholic party.

Interviews given to the press, both Minister de la Huerta and General Calles deplore discussion of presidential candidates as premature. Minister de la Huerta was particularly emphatic in his declaration that he is not and will not be a candidate to succeed President Obregon, who was elected on a "no-re-election" platform, and who has announced he will abide by his pledge.

De la Huerta stated that at the time he withdrew as provisional president in 1920, giving over the presidency to Obregon, he informed his intimate friends that he would not be a candidate to succeed Obregon in 1924. He pointed out that he had renewed the pledge last year at the time of his successful negotiations with foreign bankers concerning a plan for caring for the external debt of Mexico.

Minister de la Huerta has also published an open letter denying reports afloat that there is a secret agreement between himself and General Calles with regard to the presidential succession, giving an erroneous impression that there is a division among those who carried out successfully the revolution of 1920.

He declared in the letter that all friends of that revolution are committed in their determination to secure the fruits thereof, and will not let other questions occupy their attention prematurely.

General Calles has also given out an interview, in which he declares premature the discussion of the presidential succession, a question not due for consideration for an entire year yet.

$200,000,000 IN BANK FOR RAINY DAYS

NEW YORK, April 20.—Henry Ford's cash balance is still in excess of $200,000,000, and as yet he has "no thought of borrowing any money," he informed his enemies in Wall street in a statement telegraphed by the automobile manufacturer from Detroit to the Wall Street Journal.

The financial publication had sent Ford an inquiry as to how his cash balance stood following his recent acquisition of coal and timber lands, water power sites, a glass plant and other properties.

Relying to the inquiry as to his plans for developing his coal properties, Ford said he was urging the advisability of putting in coke ovens with a view to doing the same things he has done in Detroit, where he has taken advantage of numerous by-products of coal and coke, thus increasing their worth and in a large measure defraying the aggregate cost of his coal.

The gas drawn off from the coal is used to supply fuel gas and lighting for residential and business communities, and other by-products are sold for motor fuel and other commodities.

Ford asserted the initial step in the direction of developing his coal distribution was to let contracts for doubling the River Rouge coking ovens. Contracts for the steel have been let and construction will begin shortly. Ford said, and added:

"When these are finished we will double the coking ovens again."

Harvey Firestone, long-time friend of the automobile maker, has held consultations with him with a view to installing a coking plant in Akron, O., and, according to Ford, has shown a willingness to put in a coking plant in Akron which would serve citizens of the rubber industry center with cheap coke and gas, the same as used in Detroit.

and General Calles with regard to the presidential succession, giving an erroneous impression that there is a division among those who carried out successfully the revolution of 1920.

He declared in the letter that all friends of that revolution are committed in their determination to secure the fruits thereof, and will not let other questions occupy their attention prematurely.

General Calles has also given out an interview, in which he declares premature the discussion of the presidential succession, a question not due for consideration for an entire year yet.

PRISONER GIVEN TIME TO COLLECT DEBTS OWED HIM

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—Time to collect money he has loaned to other prisoners in the county jail was granted Nazario Rangel, "three-time loser" and confessed burglar, following his sentence to San Quentin today by Superior Judge Paul J. McCormick.

Rangel told the court that he lent a considerable amount of money to his fellow prisoners during his incarceration and, unless he is allowed to remain in the county jail to collect it, the money will never be returned to him. The stay of execution of the court was made to extend to April 23.

ALL RELIGIONS TOLERATED IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, April 5.—The religious situation in Russia presents a series of contrasts approaching paradoxes. In one ancient church you see devout worshippers with traditions one thousand years old and in another there is a new movie with hilarious laughter at the antics of an American comedian. Russia countenances both.

The czar's government suppressed the Roman Catholic Jewish and any religion but the established Greek. The Soviet government declares itself tolerant of any religion and also tolerant of lack of religion. Anti-Jew and anti-Christ march together.

Take Sunday's contrast. It was Palm Sunday for the Greek Catholics, Easter for the Roman Catholics and Passover for the Jews. At the elevation in the Catholic church thousands of persons, mostly women, crowded the hall, hardly permitting the worshippers to kneel. There were great processions before the Roman Catholic church, with endless masses. Persons crossed themselves three times on going in and three times on coming out, while hundreds of beggars got million rubles noted to buy bread.

Now take the other side of the picture. Take that morning's three newspapers and read these items under the following date lines:

Differences Shown

Petrograd—Polish university students at a meeting approved the sentence of Vicar General Budkiewicz; Kharhof, the peasants at Odessa Gubernie turned the Greek church into an orphanage. Memel—Jewish laborers decided to work through the Passover and to hold anti-Passover demonstrations. The city council decided to requisition one-third of the church and synagogues for homeless children, altogether fifteen buildings.

CALLAWAY, April 5.—The farm home of Art Schneringer, a few miles west of here, was quite badly damaged by fire. The fire started when some clothing was accidentally thrown against the stovepipe that runs through the floor. Neighbors were called and by hard work prevented the house from being entirely destroyed. But the room where the fire started was quite badly damaged.

Vessels of galvanized iron are not suitable for containing food materials, as many of these have solvent properties on the metal.

CHARTER FOES
HIT PETITION ON MANAGER

The committee of charter opponents conducting the recent fight against the proposed charter will not co-operate in circulating a petition to the new city council asking a trial of the city manager form, according to Martin Shields, one of the group.

According to Shields, the committee met last night and discussed the matter of co-operation in the drafting and circulating of a petition requesting the council to install a city manager on trial.

In the early part of the week Shields declared that if such a petition were circulated he would sign it. He expressed the belief that most of the opponents would sign.

It was upon his statement that the Chamber of Commerce took action in directing the civic affairs committee to initiate a movement for a petition if the opposition would co-operate.

"Sentiment of the meeting last night was that the new city council should be left to work out its own plan of city government," said Shields today.

"They were elected because they were considered competent to conduct city affairs, and the opinion was expressed that nothing should be done to influence their action in the development of a program of action."

Shields pointed out that in his opinion a majority of the council members were for the charter, and intimated that if they believed a city manager a necessity for Santa Ana it should not be necessary for a petition to urge a trial of the plan.

MINE TO SHUT DOWN
REDDING, April 20.—Because it was found impossible to comply with the new rules of the industrial accident commission, adopted after the Argonaut mine disaster, the Sybil, most important gold mine in the French Gulch district, was shut down. All hands were laid off. It is reported here that many of the small mines of the state will also be forced to close down as they will be unable to stand the expense necessary to make the changes required under the new rules.

700 EXPECTED AT EPWORTH CONCLAVE

Fully 700 delegates will be in attendance tonight in Anaheim at the opening session of the thirty-first annual convention of the San Diego district of the Epworth league, according to the Rev. J. A. Geissinger, pastor of the Methodist White Temple, Anaheim.

"This convention, which will open with a huge banquet in the White Temple tonight, will attract delegates from San Diego, Riverside, Imperial and Orange counties," said the Rev. Mr. Geissinger today.

"The delegates will be quartered on the 'Harvard Plan,' and we hope to be able to quarter many of the visitors in Anaheim and Fullerton homes.

"The convention will be featured by addresses by Dr. E. E. Helms of Los Angeles, the Rev. C. R. Montague of Fullerton, Dr. Clyde Crist and others.

"One of the most interesting features of tomorrow's session will be a picnic and outing at Orange county park, when several hundred guests will be entertained.

"Special musical numbers will be given at the Sunday morning service in the White Temple, when Ellis Rhodes of Santa Ana will sing the 'Ninety and Nine.'

"The morning session tomorrow will be given over largely to departmental conferences. Election of officers will probably be in order before the convention adjourns. Many delegates have already arrived and it is expected fully 700 will be in attendance at the banquet tonight."

TARGET FOR ORANGES, JAP SEEKS 2 ARRESTS

Throwing oranges at motorists will cease to be a pleasant diversion, if authorities have their way.

A warrant for the arrest of John Doe Denler and William Trapp, charging them with simple assault, was issued here today by Justice J. B. Cox.

The complaint charges the men, both about 24 years of age, with hurling oranges at M. Shigenaka, Anaheim, endangering him and his family.

Shigenaka said that every time he went to ride in his car, whether he had his family with him, the young men hurled a fruit in his direction.

CONVICTED MAN ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL HERE

On all the statutory grounds provided, George Fellows, convicted of a serious offense, through his attorney, Roland Thompson, today filed a motion for a new trial.

Fellows, arrested on a train at Fullerton, was found guilty last Wednesday. The motion today asked for an arrest of judgment, and a new trial.

Although the statutory reasons for a new trial were cited, it was expected that when the motion comes up before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams for argument next Friday, Thompson will stress what he declares was the error of the court in admitting certain evidence.

JUNK DEALERS, U. S. EMPLOYEES ACCUSED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Six indictments were voted last night by the federal grand jury in session here charging three junk dealers and three government employees with fraud in connection with the sale of government material from shipyards at Oakland.

It was understood that the amount involved was $12,000 and that other indictments may follow involving still larger sums.

The men are charged with having eliminated bidding for the purchase of materials by arranging private sales contrary to government orders.

IDENTIFIES SUSPECT IN $10,000 ROBBERY

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—George Stafford, 30, held in the city jail here today, has been identified by Clarence Dale, collector for the Sam Seelig company, as the man who robbed him of $10,000 in cash and checks on March 19. Police are trying to connect Stafford, who was arrested yesterday, with other daring daylight holdups.

Automatic machines for the sale of bus and subway tickets have been installed by London shops.

WALNUT THIEVES GET PENITENTIARY TERMS

Convicted last Thursday of second degree burglary in connection with the theft of two sacks of walnuts, Mike Zuniga and Pete Armenta were today sentenced by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to serve from one to five years in San Quentin.

The pair were arrested following the disappearance from the C. C. Collins walnut packing house of the walnuts, which were later found at the men's homes.

The men pleaded not guilty, and told a story of how a man had hired them to transport the walnuts for him. The jury was unimpressed.

FRENCH BLAMED FOR FANNING WAR FLAMES

MOSCOW, April 20.—"The French government has lit the fuse (in the Ruhr) and if she will not extinguish it herself, before it burns out and reaches the mine, no government in Europe will be found which can guarantee its future policy."

"A powerful Russia offers more guarantees for the security of the French people against a possible revival of Central European militarism than ten Versailles treaties."

These were the statements to the United Press of Christopher Rakovsky, premier of the Ukrainian republic, regarded as one of the coming men in the great combination of states which grew out of the Soviet movement and which is now being directed toward a new, united Russian republic, Ukraine, the "Granary of Europe," is one of the strongest of these republics.

Danger in the Ruhr

"What's our attitude about events in the Ruhr Basin and the possible danger of a militaristic monarchistic restoration in Germany?"

"We do not see at this moment any reason for any intervention. So far in France, as well as in Germany, there are in power governments which, at least in their pronouncements, state that they desire to find a peaceful solution of the question."

"The governments still control the events and it is possible to expect that the fear to a new war will compel them to be sensible. But if the events in the Ruhr are prolonged much longer than the governments and the limits of state boundaries will be insufficient to confine the war within certain limits."

Then Rakovsky uttered warning carried in the first paragraph of the interview.

Rakovsky was once a practicing medical doctor. He speaks twelve languages and is regarded as one of the most advanced of the communist leaders of Russia. In reply to further questions regarding Russia's present and future, Rakovsky continued:

"You ask me about Russia's present position in the world's policy."

"Russia is the only great power which within her own boundaries solves the questions resulting from relations between classes and nationalities. Beyond the boundaries she does not pursue any conquering and aggressive intentions."

Factor for Peace

"Under such circumstances Russia might become an important factor of strengthening international peace. The more favorable symptoms shown by France and partly by America are known. At present America is probably the country that knows the Soviet republics better than any other."

"As regards France there are in France, besides militaristic elements, more far-sighted political circles which more and more realize the delusiveness of those guarantees which treaties like that of Versailles give to the security of France."

New Turkey

I asked Premier Rakovsky what effect the Lausanne conference, which took up the Turkish problem, would have on the world's history. He replied:

"The results of the Lausanne conference will be tremendous. I do not doubt but that peace will be signed in the near future, because nine-tenths of the questions have already been agreed upon. Lausanne will mean in the world's history a turning point in the relations between the capitalistic countries and Islamitic East."

One of the most complete collections of Indian relics and photographs ever assembled in the West was placed on exhibition by Earl Morrow, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, here, today.

"These photographs and relics have been placed in the show window of Victor Walker, 205 West Fourth street, so that all who desire may inspect them," said Morrow.

"The photographs, covering many years of patient labor, were made by my father, the late S. J. Morrow, formerly of Yankton, S. D., who was well acquainted with many of the leaders of savage tribes. In addition to the photographs, there are a number of relics picked up on the plains by my father.

"The relics include crude spoons and bowls fashioned by the tribesmen, human finger bones used by the Indians in certain weird gambling games, a number of teeth of one of Custer's men, the eagle feathers comprising the headgear of a noted chief and many other odds and ends assembled by my father in his twelve years experience on the frontier."

Risked Life

According to Mrs. S. J. Morrow, wife of the photographer who often risked his life to obtain close-up views of the hostile Sioux, the photographs shown here were used extensively by George W. Kingsbury, who wrote the history of South Dakota.

"My husband knew many of the Indian chiefs and spent much of his time in the wilds with them," said Mrs. Morrow, at the home of her son, 1424 Spurgeon street, here today.

COURT IS ASKED TO FIX VALUE OF PINT OF WOMAN'S BLOOD

LEONORA PEARL STANDIFORD

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—

What is the market value of human blood?

At what figure can a man or woman quote precious fluid ounces and be sure of collecting?

Can a woman, because of her responsibility in race production, demand more than a man?

Such are questions the law is called upon to answer for the first time in human history.

In a legal action, without parallel, Miss Leonora Pearl Standiford has demanded $2500 for a pint of blood, sacrificed in an effort to save the life of Mrs. G. P. Hilliard.

The transfusion failed. Miss Standiford said she had been offered $15, which she spurned.

The late Enrico Caruso paid $1.500 for a pint of blood that did not save his life. A New York stevedore has posted a standing offer to sell a pint at that figure.

And at that sum Miss Standiford is ready to settle, but she seeks $1000 additional for hospital and doctors' bills and sickness here.

HEART BUREAU OF JOE BACKS
IS NO MORECuddle Buggies Declared
Not Wholly Responsible for Discontinuance

County Clerk J. M. Backs's matrimonial bureau is no more, and with its discontinuance, one of Orange county's best known and most important institutions has passed out of existence.

For several weeks, during which time no letters from lonesome men and heart-sick maidens were received, it had been suspected that the bureau was dying.

But no one knew the cause of the fatality, until Backs himself revealed the reason today.

"The decease of the bureau was by no means accidental nor unaccountable," Backs said. "It did not die a natural death."

He was backward about being interviewed, just as he always is. He was as modest about his bureau as he is about the fact that he has more to do with the love affairs of Southern California swains and maidens than any other man. Finally, however, he unbuttoned himself.

Fancy Still Turns.

"No, I don't think cuddle buggies, and roadside queenie parties are entirely responsible," he began.

"Neither do I think that the spring air of Orange county has lost any of its potency. I believe that this spring, as ever, the young man's fancy is still turning.

"Young men and women are displaying more initiative and are relying less on correspondence for their wooings. That's one reason.

"The second reason is confidential. My deputies and I are very busy filing civil papers—untangling the domestic difficulties which result from our Dan Cupid stuff, so that perhaps we haven't had time properly to attend to some of the most recent heart pines which we have received.

Task Proves Large.

"When we started this matrimonial bureau, we didn't realize how many love hungry souls there were in Orange county. The task proved stupendous.

"Anyways, a spring moon, warm breezes and pleasant nights are much more conducive to wooing than to the rather unsatisfactory letter writing, through a third party, even though the third party be ever so sympathetic."

At any rate, the fact remains that no letters have been received—object matrimony—for about eight weeks.

Despite that fact, Backs and his deputies continue to write out an ever-increasing number of marriage licenses.

"I haven't deserted my little pal, Dan Cupid," the clerk concluded. "Writing licenses is much surer than arranging for unions which may never occur."

JUDGE FOR DAY
SAYS THRILLS
MISSING

How does it feel to be a judge for a day?

"Well," says W. F. Menton, prominent Santa Ana attorney who had this sensation here yesterday, "I can't say that there is very much of a thrill to it, but it certainly is something different."

Menton, who deserted the litigant machine for the intricate details of Blackstone, was pressed into service in superior court here by stipulation of attorneys on both sides in an action for divorce.

"Dignity," said Menton, "is something I never even thought about. I was on the bench for a certain purpose. It was my duty to hear the case and make the necessary decisions."

"This, I suppose, any lawyer could do, and yet it is true that one feels a bit different sitting up there on the bench. I think I know a little more about the many trying situations that confront the average judge, as a result of my brief experience."

"However, it is all a matter of the exercise of good judgment, and a first class lawyer has just as much responsibility in that respect as a judge. There is one distinction, of course, and that is in the matter of judicial self control. The lawyer may 'lose his head,' as we say, but the judge must always be unruffled, as I see it. He must be calm when others are seething with excitement."

VALENCIA SHOW
MUSIC BATTLE
IS MYSTERY

Deckhand Refuses to Commit Himself as to Classic Jazz 'War'

Did the effervescent press agent start something he could not finish in connection with the question of music for the third annual Valencia orange show to be held at Anaheim May 22 to 30, inclusive?

George Johnson, official deckhand for the big orange festival, declined to admit that there was any such animal as a press agent when an inquisitive reporter asked him a few leading questions.

"Manager Malcolm Fraser is in favor of the classical programs," George, the deckhand, parried when he was quizzed concerning the alleged battle of wits between the hard-working general manager and Herman Stern, director general of the affair.

"Fraser wants the classic," he continued, "while Stern has a distinct liking for the zippy jazz. 'Give me the jazzologists,' is the cry of Stern. 'Bring on the stately and the sublime,' counters Fraser. 'We're between the deep director and the profound manager. But as for press agents? Hm! Is there such a thing?"

The official deckhand raised a delicate hand in mild protest. The suggestion that the musical war was a war of words did not rest well with him.

Deckhand Smiles.

"Give me classical jazz, if you get what I mean," he said blandly. "Not too much jazz and not too much of the classical. I prefer promenade jazz, if you catch the distinction."

Which is not so bad for a mere deckhand.

SYMPHONY PLAYERS
PLEASE RADIO FANS

KFAW, The Register radio phone, broadcast an entertaining program last night with Grigsby's Symphony Seven supplying a liberal offering of the latest dance music.

The Symphony Seven know their music so thoroughly that the entire program was rendered without using a single score.

Grigsby's Symphony Seven is composed of these musicians: Allen Smith, piano; Paul Allen, banjo; Alton McDermott, drums; Harold Matthews, bassoon; Rodney Brastad and Fred Krastel, saxophones; and, Ray Kellogg, violin. F. Grigsby manages the orchestra.

The program last night included two piano selections, "Blue," and "Peggy Dear," played by Allen Smith.

The orchestra played the following fox trots: "The Story Book Ball," "Rose of the Rio Grande," "All Alone," "Bees' Knees," "Chicago," "Memphis Blues," "Crinoline Days," "Carolina in the Morning," "Fate."

KFAW was heard last week at Sioux City, Ia., by Donald Williams whose uncle, R. H. Williams, resides in Santa Ana. Mr. Williams in a letter complements the character of The Register programs and the splendid audibility even in far-off Iowa.

The symphony machine for the intricate details of Blackstone, was pressed into service in superior court here by stipulation of attorneys on both sides in an action for divorce.

"Dignity," said Menton, "is something I never even thought about. I was on the bench for a certain purpose. It was my duty to hear the case and make the necessary decisions."

"This, I suppose, any lawyer could do, and yet it is true that one feels a bit different sitting up there on the bench. I think I know a little more about the many trying situations that confront the average judge, as a result of my brief experience."

"However, it is all a matter of the exercise of good judgment, and a first class lawyer has just as much responsibility in that respect as a judge. There is one distinction, of course, and that is in the matter of judicial self control. The lawyer may 'lose his head,' as we say, but the judge must always be unruffled, as I see it. He must be calm when others are seething with excitement."

2 BABIES WAR ON COUNTY IN CRASH CASE

Two babies were waging a battle against Orange county today—a battle that is expected to come to a head here Tuesday when the board of supervisors meets to discuss the question of damages asserted to be done George B. Norman, Moneta, who avers that six occupants of his automobile were injured when the machine was struck by a county ambulance at Seventeenth street and Grand avenue.

Two babies—that of Norman, and the child of E. J. Uhrhauer—were badly disfigured, it is asserted, the ambulance lost a wheel and the Norman car was badly wrecked. Norman declares that all the occupants of the car sustained more or less serious injuries.

Appearing before the board of supervisors, Norman was expected to present a claim for $460 for hospital and emergency treatment.

It was indicated that he might ask additional damages.

According to Norman's claim, the driver of the ambulance failed to sound the siren as he approached the intersection of Seventeenth street and Grand avenue. As a result, it is asserted, the ambulance crashed into Norman's car and hurled it against a telephone pole.

At a previous hearing members of the supervisory board decided to hold the matter of damages in abeyance until the next meeting of the board on Tuesday.

It was brought out at the original hearing that the driver of the ambulance was not traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred. The ambulance driver claimed he did not see the Norman machine approaching.

SHERIFF, CHIEF
LAY PLANS TO HANDLE HUGE CROWD HERE
JUNK DAYAuthorities Expect 50,000
Auto Fans to Witness Resurrection Program

INTEREST GROWING

Local Clubs Name Committees to Assist in American Legion Event

How many traffic officers, speed cops, special deputy sheriffs, National Guardsmen and members of the American Legion will be required to handle the huge crowd which is expected to throng Santa Ana on Auto Resurrection Day, Saturday, May 5?

This is the question that was puzzling Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Chief of Police Claude Rogers and other traffic regulators here today.

Appointment of committees by the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis club, the Lions club, the Women's Auxiliary, and other organizations co-operating with the American Legion committee in staging the monster parade and racing events, served to emphasize in the minds of Orange county officers of the event. The junk championship race and the "Petticoat Special" have created widespread interest.

"Basing our estimates upon the attendance at the motorcycle hill climb at San Juan Capistrano, we feel safe in predicting that fully 50,000 spectators will be in Santa Ana Saturday, May 5, when the Legion program is given," said Sheriff Sam Jernigan here today.

"Inquiry among merchants, motorists and automobile dealers indicates that the feeling is general that the city will be literally jammed with motorists and pedestrians."

"With the assistance of the city police, the American Legion, the National Guard and other organizations, however, we think we will be able to handle the crowd in good order."

"We are making preparations to assist the city authorities in handling the parade crowd in Santa Ana, at 11 a. m., and I shall detail our regular men and special deputies to handle the crowd and regulate traffic at the race course, at the end of South Main street."

Big Working Force.

Sheriff Jernigan had eighteen men working at the San Juan Capistrano hill climb. His force included four Orange county motorcycle officers, two Santa Ana motorcycle officers, one Brea officer and a number of deputies from the sheriff's office proper.

Regulation of traffic in and near San Juan Capistrano was virtually perfect and there were few traffic jams. Four San Diego county officers assisted the Orange county men.

"We realize," said J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, "that the Legion and the co-operating committee have a tremendous amount of work to do on the day of the parade and races. With the thought of assisting them in every possible way, we have named a committee which will cooperate with the Auto Resurrection Day committee in working out the details for the big event."

AUTO RESURRECTION DAY

HOSPITAL PLAN AT BEACH IS FAVORED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 19.—A municipal hospital for Huntington Beach, to be built by the city and operated by the city in conjunction with the large oil companies, seemed to be a possibility here today.

At the meeting yesterday of the Huntington Beach Lions club the organization went on record favoring the erection by the city of a hospital and if the board will not go ahead with the work to circulate petitions and call for an election upon a bond issue for the building.

There would be twenty rooms in a $50,000 building.

The question of whether oil workers outside of the city limits would be allowed to enter the hospital as residents of Huntington Beach was brought up by Mayor Richard Drew. F. R. Bowen, chairman of the civic committee, pointed out that the companies might be willing to pay any part of the operating expenses in return for the medical attention rendered employees and the idea was favorably received.

Ed Manning was fined $1 for becoming a grandfather and later when a collection of over $14 was taken up the new grandfather matched it and placed the sum to the credit of the youngster in the new bank here.

L. C. Preston, who has lived near Huntington Beach since 1894, coming here from an Oregon wheat ranch, died yesterday and his funeral will be held tomorrow, April 10, at the Baptist church here at 3 o'clock with Rev. Luther Arthur in charge. Interment will be in the Huntington Beach cemetery. Mr. Preston leaves a widow, five sons and one daughter. He was born in Illinois.

The funeral was held here this week for Mrs. Sadie Jordon, wife of E. Jordon. Mrs. Jordon died in a Los Angeles hospital and was buried in a local cemetery. Floyd Vernon Barker, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Barker, died here and was buried in Arroyo Grande cemetery.

COOKING TROUBLES OF BRIDES ENDED

(Contributed)
The professional joke-makers still hold to the belief that every woman has a hard time learning how to cook. But for the rest of us that bubble was pricked long ago. We still smile sympathetically at the recollection of the little bride of a generation ago whose progress along the culinary path was marked by scorched pies, burned fingers and tears, but we accept a dinner invitation from the modern novice cook, without hesitation.

This state of affairs is not due to any change in women themselves, but to a change in conditions. Twenty years ago a girl went to housekeeping with a notebook full of rules for making Aunt Hetty's delicious dishes, and a huge coal range.

The modern bride advises us to send our sympathy where it is needed, not to waste it on her. To begin with, she has made considerable of a success of everything she has undertaken, from playing golf to being private secretary, and she has no idea of failing at this new job of housekeeping. For a cookbook she selects the tested recipes of a food authority, which tell her, clearly and concisely, every step in food preparation, and as a final precaution, she selects a substantial, well-built gas range as her most dependable helper in learning how to cook.

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economic manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car-owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

GARBAGE MEN GET RICH; SELL BOTTLES TO LIQUOR MAKERS

CHICAGO, April 19.—Do you pity the poor garbage man? Save your tears. Prohibition has made his a lucrative "profession."

A newspaper correspondent with a nose for "ashcan economics" has unearthed new and unique industry involving moonshiners, bootleggers and garbage rustlers.

No, you guess is wrong. They may make moonshine from garbage, but this is not the remunerative angle of the industry as ascribed by enterprising Chicago rustlers.

Their "craft" is the sale of fancy labeled "empties," gathered from the homes of the rich. These labels are worth considerable to the bootlegger as a price-getter for his illicit product.

FTER escaping the dangers of the World war, Jno. H. Adam's health was almost wrecked by rheumatism and stomach trouble. He says Tanlac fully restored him after everything else had failed.

"Rheumatism had me where I had to lay off from work for days at a time, and stomach trouble made my life miserable for two years. But Tanlac put me back on my feet feeling fine and I am more than glad to pass the good word on," is the clear-cut statement of John H. Adams, well known ex-service man of 247 E. Broadway, Portland, Ore.

"I used to suffer from indigestion for hours after every meal and got so I almost dreaded to eat.

"The rheumatism hit me in the arms and legs like shrapnel and I was so racked with pain I was hardly fit for any sort of work. I fell off in weight from one seventy-five to around one thirty and kept getting worse until I thought the medicine was not made that would set me right.

"But since taking Tanlac, I've got back my old army appetite, digest every bite perfectly, and haven't a trace of the rheumatism left. I'm gaining weight right along. I certainly advise anyone to take Tanlac if they're in the fix I was in."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 27 million bottles sold—Adv.

"STRUTTIN' ALONG" BEST SHOW OF SEASON

Unique in organization, carrying more than thirty capable and talented entertainers filled with a score of catchy melodies, "Strutin' Along," the musical comedy played by an all-colored cast, last night scored a distinct success before a packed house at the Yost theater here.

"Strutin' Along," was made for entertainment purposes only and it made no effort to tax the brain with its subtleties or any heavily woven plot. But there was much music, dancing and out-of-the-ordinary characterizations. There were clever teams of comedians, the chorus was unusually sprightly and its members made a real effort for harmony.

Mamie Smith, New York celebrity, led the list of headliners which included such well-known performers as Frisco Nick, John Rucher, Sid Perrin and Carolynne Snowden.

Miss Smith's jazz-hounds proved popular with the audience. Zoo Ramee, an exceptionally talented dancer, was the best artist in this work seen here for years. Half a dozen other lesser lights caused many laughs during the evening.

With due respect to Harry Fox and the other artists who have been seen in Santa Ana during the past year, the consensus of opinion after the performance was that "Strutin' Along" was the most entertaining show that has come here.

USE MANY BIG SETS FOR WALTER HIERS COMEDY

Among the many big sets made at the Paramount West Coast studio in many months, those used in staging "Mr. Billings Spends His Dime," starring Walter Hiers, and which is now showing at the West End, stood out above all the others. Not only in size but in unusual appearance did they tower over all others.

Representing a street in a Latin-American country, one set was picturesque with its odd buildings, squalid and of novel architecture. In addition, the characters roaming the street added to its unique appearance. A partial list of the minor actors called for the set included: Latin-American types, two mounted guards, coachman in livery, footman in livery, four soldiers, two women water carriers, one peon, one ox-cart driver, one burro cart driver, one wood bearer, one trunk bearer, one blind man, three men tourists, two women tourists, three men boot-hoofers, two women boot-peddlers.

Added to this were many horses, oxen, pigs, cows, mules, burros, goats, sheep, cats, dogs and other domestic animals.

"CAPTAIN FLY-BY-NIGHT" ON PRINCESS SCREEN

A dashing, swagga swashbuckler, as romantic as Romeo himself, who keeps the bewitching señoritas of olden California enthralled with his feats of daring in "Captain Fly-By-Night," the current attraction at the Princess theater, is a role that fits Johnnie Walker as snugly as a rubber skull cap fits the head of a bather.

Walker makes an ideal hero of this stirring, romantic drama from the facile pen of Johnston McCulley, in whose "Mark of Zorro" Douglas Fairbanks achieved one of his greatest comedic triumphs several months ago.

The fires of red-blooded romance burn bright in "Captain Fly-By-Night." It is rich in the glow of human passions. It tingles with the surge of swift action. It sparkles with touches of delicious comedy.

BELGIAN CITY HISTORY IS OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Belgian port of Antwerp, from which, it has been announced the last of America's "doughboys" have sailed homeward, thus became the last town of the many from Bordeaux to St. Mihiel and Coblenz to Coblenz, in which the American Expeditionary Forces have played a part. The city is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

"Antwerp might be taken as a classic example of how physical, economic, governmental and religious development and plain luck—affection the growth and prosperity of cities," says the bulletin. "Its history is a sort of epic of the poor but honest little village that worked hard, attracted a fairy godmother, grew up into riches and power, and was thrown into rags by an ogre and then 'came back' all over again.

Storm Made It Seaport.

"An inconsequential inland village on a sluggish creek, until before the twelfth century, Antwerp suddenly was given by a sea storm a broad estuary with a deep tide. A ridge of sand dunes, washed away, turned a long, tortuous channel into a short straight one. Through the years engineers constructed embankments, bettering the channels. But still the small town remained relatively unimportant, because of the competition of Bruges. Then Bruges' channel silted up, and Antwerp, twice the beneficiary of luck, came into its own.

"In 1503, the first foreign factory was founded by the Portuguese. Others followed, and in a little over fifty years, the town had a population of more than 100,000, and was one of the most prosperous commercial centers in the world, with a hundred vessels borne in on every tide. It soon snatched the mantle of old Venice as the world's banking center, while its daily quota of ships reached 500.

"Europe, north of the Mediterranean countries, had never before possessed a city so prosperous and splendid as Antwerp. In the city, merchant princes made their millions of florins; thousands of handsome dwellings were built; churches and public buildings were erected; and some of the world's most notable works of art were wrought. The cathedral, with a great tower rising over 400 feet, is an example of the best of Gothic architecture.

Lost Control of River.
"One significant feature of Antwerp's rapid development in the sixteenth century, was the fact that commercial liberalism, individualism and capitalism were somewhat more emphasized than in cities that had grown up before. The guild system was dying. Old Antwerp can be looked upon therefore, as a kinsman to the commerce-built cities of our own day and our own economic system. Foreign merchants, because of liberal laws and customs, found little interference with their comings and goings and their various enterprises.

"Commercial liberalism led to religious liberalism. Then came the Spanish conquest and Antwerp's power was soon shorn. Religious strife led to the separation of Holland from Belgium. The former retained control of the mouth of the Scheldt. Antwerp's channel, and kept the once powerful city from free access to the sea for two centuries. During this period of political and economic reverses, Antwerp went into eclipse, while Amsterdam grew at its expense.

Bought Way to Freedom.

"Antwerp took its first step toward recovery when Napoleon, gaining possession of it, planned to build it up and make it a pistol directed at the heart of England. He accomplished little, but Antwerp advanced slowly under the Dutch after Waterloo. In 1830, came the revolution which created Belgium and again Antwerp's situation improved. But the Dutch still controlled the mouth of the Scheldt and charged a toll on ships to Antwerp, which operated like a 'different' in favor of their own ports. This economic barrier alone, the Belgians felt, was holding Antwerp back from reaching its old estate.

Finally, in a transaction that deserves to rank with the purchase of the right-of-way for the Suez Canal on our own Panama Canal, the Belgians, in 1863, bought free right-of-way through the Scheldt for $6,000,000 francs. From that time, Antwerp forged ahead until just before the World War it was the greatest port of continental Europe, except only Hamburg. Since the armistice, it has probably reached first place on the continent, while surpassed in the world only by New York, London and Liverpool.

TAFT IS WINNING IN FIGHT AGAINST FAT

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Because Chief Justice William Howard Taft nearly always walks the couple of miles between his home and the capitol, some of the attaches around the United States supreme court thought his chief hobby was hiking. Closer inquiry, however, revealed that Mr. Taft doesn't consider walking a hobby, but a necessity. By walking to the court, he's simply carrying his fight against superfluous pounds to the supreme court. He's winning. Since he took his post on the court a year, his hair reduced, his friends say, from 24 to 21 pounds.

RESTORES COLOR TO GRAY HAIR

Prof. John H. Austin, eminent hair and scalp specialist of Chicago, has discovered a preparation to restore the natural color, life and luster to gray and faded hair just as nature intended. This remarkable discovery is not a dye. It is just a clear, odorless, greaseless liquid without any injurious chemicals such as lead or sulphur. It will not wash or rub off. It is pleasing and simple to apply and cannot be detected like ordinary hair tints and dyes. This preparation is known as Co-Lo Hair Restorer and may be had for every natural shade of hair: A6 for black; A7 for jet black; A8 for all medium brown shades; and A9 for all light brown, drab and sunburn shades. Co-Lo is obtainable at druggists everywhere.—Adv.

PULLMAN PASSENGER LOSES TROUSERS TO MAN STEALING RIDE

OMAHA, Neb., April 11.—When the transcontinental passenger train pulled into Omaha a Chicago passenger aboard a Pullman car bound for Omaha and whose berth was at the extreme end of the car, discovered that his only trousers, which he had placed at his feet in the berth, had been stolen. Panic seized the passenger.

His predicament was enhanced, he declared, by the fact that a reception committee awaited him at the depot.

Fellow travelers were questioned separately and collectively by frantic conductors and porters, but to no avail. A thorough search of the train was then begun, and in the next car the conductor found a dusky stowaway in a linen closet, who was wearing the passenger's garment.

SAYS BATS DON'T RELISH MOSQUITO

TAMPA, Fla., April 11.—Bats to combat the expected mosquito epidemic in Tampa this year.

"Rats!" says Dr. J. R. Harris, city health officer.

His terse comment was called forth by newspaper announcement that a big real estate development would import a large number of the bird-animals for that purpose.

"The facts about bats," said Dr. Harris, in a brief interview, "are that they will eat mosquitoes when there is nothing else at hand. But mosquitoes are too small fry for them. They want the larger bugs and insects, and as long as the latter are present the bats will not bother the mosquitoes. This has been proven by extensive experiments by the United States government."

YALE SENIOR ONLY MAY PILOT HIS CAR

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 11.—Seniors at Yale, who now have exclusive rights to spin tops and play marbles on the campus and to go bare headed about the town have the added privilege of operating automobiles while in college, according to faculty orders, and woe betide the other underclassmen who dare attempt a similar stunt. Deducting that it was freshman or sophomore or even junior who was most likely to figure in some wild escapades involving a race against justice in the person of a pursuing motorcycle cop, the faculty issued orders 'ere the spring term began forbidding any but seniors to "roll their own" giddy little racer or sporty roadster with in the college jurisdiction. A problem that has been bothering Yale these many years is believed solved, for the underclassmen are expected to respect every right of a senior and to leave autos as severely alone as they now refrain from going bare-headed or using roller skates. And, anyway, seniors will see to it that the new rule is enforced.

"Commercial liberalism led to religious liberalism. Then came the Spanish conquest and Antwerp's power was soon shorn. Religious strife led to the separation of Holland from Belgium. The former retained control of the mouth of the Scheldt. Antwerp's channel, and kept the once powerful city from free access to the sea for two centuries. During this period of political and economic reverses, Antwerp went into eclipse, while Amsterdam grew at its expense.

Bought Way to Freedom.

"Antwerp took its first step toward recovery when Napoleon, gaining possession of it, planned to build it up and make it a pistol directed at the heart of England. He accomplished little, but Antwerp advanced slowly under the Dutch after Waterloo. In 1830, came the revolution which created Belgium and again Antwerp's situation improved. But the Dutch still controlled the mouth of the Scheldt and charged a toll on ships to Antwerp, which operated like a 'different' in favor of their own ports. This economic barrier alone, the Belgians felt, was holding Antwerp back from reaching its old estate.

Finally, in a transaction that deserves to rank with the purchase of the right-of-way for the Suez Canal on our own Panama Canal, the Belgians, in 1863, bought free right-of-way through the Scheldt for $6,000,000 francs. From that time, Antwerp forged ahead until just before the World War it was the greatest port of continental Europe, except only Hamburg. Since the armistice, it has probably reached first place on the continent, while surpassed in the world only by New York, London and Liverpool.

THROWS CHEMICALS.

HARLAN, Iowa, April 9.—Mayo W. Padden, president of the Omaha Lodge of Motion Picture Machine operators, found guilty last week of conspiracy in connection with the alleged throwing of obnoxious chemicals in the lobby of a Council Bluffs theater during a strike of movie operators last summer, was sentenced to a term of three years in the state prison at Fort Madison.

START DRIVE TO AMERICANIZE ALIENS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—

Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, has announced plans for a country-wide Americanization drive, to the end that the half of the foreign population which is not American be educated to desire and be fit for citizenship.

"We are confronted with a serious problem in our alien population," said Mr. Davis.

"We have 14,000,000 foreigners

"in America, 70,000 of whom live among us without assuming the duties of American citizenship. We propose to enroll these aliens, in order to provide for them the opportunity to learn what America means and what the privileges and duties of American citizenship are.

"We propose to Americanize the alien before he alienizes America. We propose to make him a citizen, if he proves worthy of citizenship, and to send him whence he same, if he proved unworthy.

"A blatant and cynical immorality is rising its head among us, and it must be conquered. We must drive home to all America that the honor of the individual is the honor of the family, and the honor of the family is the honor of the state. We must sanctify our family life, for no nation can long endure which is based on a foundation of broken families.

"From all the world there arises a miasma of foul political economic, and social doctrine which breeds a fever of revolt against all law and order, a plague of hate and destruction.

"In this new conflict America must hold fast to those eternal principles of right and justice laid down in our fundamental laws. American citizenship must have behind it honest patriotism, love of liberty and respect for law. We must stand firm on the principles enunciated in the birth of the Republic.

"We must pledge ourselves that representative government shall endure."

Plans for the organization of naturalized immigrant Americans for patriotic service are being worked out by the labor department.

FLORIDA TO FIGHT FREE STOCK RANGE

TAMPA, Fla., April 11.—One of the biggest fights likely to come up at the next meeting of the state legislature, in April, is one which citrus fruit growers, farmers and many others interested will make to have the free range abolished.

At present Florida cattle, in most instances, are allowed to roam the woods, getting their sustenance wherever possible. Frequently they find their way into the yards and farms where valuable crops are grown and do a vast amount of damage.

Those opposed to the free range contend that its abolishment would not only help the entire state, but that it would also help the cattle industry, inasmuch as it would tend to develop modern methods on the part of cattle men. The latter have always fought efforts to restrict the open range and are prepared to fight any renewal of such efforts.

Hokara Wonderful New Treatment

—Quickly Clears Skin

Don't envy good complexion you see, and wish for something that would give your skin the flush and beauty of youth, but go today and get a jar of Hokara—the cream that quickly assists and stimulates nature in restoring dry faded cheeks to their normal healthy charm and beauty.

There is no excuse for your skin to look tired and drawn. Keep the texture of the skin tissues smooth and fine, the pores so they will breathe new life into your skin, and the blood vessels active to add color to the cheeks.

A gentle daily massage with Hokara stimulates the skin texture, clears the pores—and the dead black skin and dirt just roll away. Try this with a little Hokara—even after you have washed your hands and face. It's a test worth trying.

People who have used Hokara for 30 years have found it to be healing, antiseptic and remarkable in quickly relieving any form of skin trouble—no matter how severe. Hokara is safe and quite different in that it contains no grease, lead or mercury. It tends to keep the skin soft, natural and refreshed. All druggists can supply you.—Adv.

WOMEN WRITERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

NORMAN, Okla., April 23.—Leading women students of journalism from 25 colleges and universities, and successful women graduates of these schools from all sections of the country will gather at the University of Oklahoma for the convention of Theta Sigma Phi April 26-28. Theta Sigma Phi is the national honorary and professional fraternity for women in journalism, organized at the University of Washington April 8, 1909.

The chapters at the University of Oklahoma and the university of Texas will be joint hostesses to the fraternity at the April convention.

As its contributions to the advancement of women in the profession Theta Sigma Phi maintains a national clearing house for jobs for women in journalism, the Women's National Journalistic Register, a nonprofit corporation with headquarters in Chicago, and publishes a magazine for women in journalism, The Matrix, with editorial offices at Madison, Wis.

Plans for the development of the register and for the expansion of the magazine will be among the leading problems of the convention. The fraternity will continue its efforts for the establishment and the maintenance of higher standards in newspaper work, as a part of the original purpose of the organization.

Officers of the fraternity are: President, Margaret Garvin Stone, New York; vice-president, Sally Spensley Michener, Minneapolis; secretary, Harriett E. Daily, Ohio State University, Columbus; editor of The Matrix, Ruby A. Black, University of Wisconsin, Madison; national organizer and acting treasurer, Grace Edgington, University of Oregon, Eugene.

BURIAL GROUND OF ANCIENTS IS FOUND

PORLTAND, Ore., April 12.—Pages of history were turned back to the year 500 A. D. when Buddhist missionaries taught the dwellers along the Pacific slope, in the discovery near Albany, Ore., of what is pronounced a burial ground of an ancient race of mound builders.

A farmer, Clyde Peacock, unearthed the relic while plowing his fields. The plowshare was caught by a rock and after digging the rock out it was found to cover a fine specimen of mortar. Further digging unearthed skulls, knives, skeletons, charcoal, pestles and additional mortars.

Thirteen well preserved skulls have been removed from the excavation, which is 50 feet long, 20 feet wide and about two feet deep. Disinterred skeletons, pestles and mortars were found with most of the skulls.

The people of the race were of great size and strength, according to J. G. Crawford, local authority on prehistoric specimens. He examined the skulls and bones carefully. They vary in weight and some are thinner than others. The teeth in a few are badly worn, while others are in nearly perfect condition.

Crawford believes that the mound builders covered the bodies of their dead with earth and built fires over them, thus baking the forms. He is of the opinion that the custom was derived from Buddhist missionaries 500 years after the birth of Christ, and preceding the time when the North American Indians inhabited this section of the country.

MASONS PLANNING TO BUILD MEMORIAL TO GEO. WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The great memorial temple to Washington the Mason, now in process of erection on Shooter's Hill, just outside of Alexandria, Va., and in plain view of Washington city, is to have a rival, if plans made by the Washington Mother Lodge Memorial association go through.

This organization, in its charter, states that among its objects are:

"To build at Fredericksburg, Va., a temple, a building or other memorial to the Masonic memory of George Washington, who was made a Mason in the lodge at Fredericksburg; to collect and place therein such relics, records and articles of historic value connected with Washington, with Masonry and with the lodge of which he was a member, as the association is able to acquire by purchase, gift, or loan."

TRAPS BIG COUGAR

FERNIE, B. C., April 17.—Robt. Baker, trapper from the upper reaches of the Yank river, came into Elko a few days ago with a live cougar. The animal measured nearly six feet from tip to tip and weighed 175 pounds. Baker's method of capturing the mountain lions is novel. When he sights a cougar, his dogs are sent first tree it can reach. Baker then climbs the tree, taking with him a long wire noose. He maneuvers until he succeeds in getting the noose over the animal's head, then pulls it taut. The cougar is slowly strangled into submission and then pulled to the ground where Baker hobbles him. The animal is then dragged to the highway, where a cage is in readiness for transport to the nearest railway point. The cougar is shipped to southern states, where there is a big demand for the live animals in zoological gardens and circus menageries. This is the eighth cougar that Baker captured alive this spring and brings his total captures to 100. It is estimated a cougar will kill not less than 50 deer alone in a year. The government has placed a bounty of $40 a head on them.

You will be under no obligation if you come in and look them over.

HUNGARY WANTS ART TREASURES OF FORMER EMPIRE

VIENNA, April 13.—Art circles as well as government circles are again perturbed by reports emanating from Budapest to the effect that the Hungarian government intends to apply to the allied commission for an allotment of the art treasures of the Austro Hungarian empire that have for centuries been stored in museums here.

These treasures not only include European but world-wide objects of art and historical value. Chief among them are French relics of the Napoleonic wars and they are guarded with a jealous eye by heads of the government and patrons of art alike.

The chapters at the University of Oklahoma and the university of Texas will be joint hostesses to the fraternity at the April convention.

As its contributions to the advancement of women in the profession Theta Sigma Phi maintains a national clearing house for jobs for women in journalism, the Women's National Journalistic Register, a nonprofit corporation with headquarters in Chicago, and publishes a magazine for women in journalism, The Matrix, with editorial offices at Madison, Wis.

Plans for the development of the register and for the expansion of the magazine will be among the leading problems of the convention. The fraternity will continue its efforts for the establishment and the maintenance of higher standards in newspaper work, as a part of the original purpose of the organization.

Officers of the fraternity are: President, Margaret Garvin Stone, New York; vice-president, Sally Spensley Michener, Minneapolis; secretary, Harriett E. Daily, Ohio State University, Columbus; editor of The Matrix, Ruby A. Black, University of Wisconsin, Madison; national organizer and acting treasurer, Grace Edgington, University of Oregon, Eugene.

Both men and women agree that sex irregularity is the worst of vices. Following this, women list those practices as most to be avoided: Stealing, lying, drinking, gambling, vulgar talk, Sabbath breaking, swearing, gossip, selfishness, idleness, snobbishness, extravagance, smoking and dancing. Men follow almost the same order except that they think gambling worse than drinking and gossip not so bad as do the persons to whom most of it is attributed.

CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO SLAIN OFFICER

COLTON, April 17.—The largest gathering ever assembled at a funeral service here came yesterday to pay respect to the memory of William Estes, police officer, killed by an unidentified Mexican Friday night. Business houses of the city closed during the services and a note of genuine sorrow pervaded all parts of the town.

Three men are held on suspicion of the murder but it is not thought that the right man has as yet been captured. Officers hope to obtain information from one of the trio which will lead to the apprehension of the guilty party.

WHIPPING HABIT FOR CHILDREN CRITICIZED

CHICAGO, April 20.—Whipping children as a disciplinary measure is a sign of parental weakness, according to Prof. A. N. Farmer, noted educator, who spoke here in the interest of the home for motherless and fatherless children to be established by the Brotherhood of American Yeoman.

"Educators learned years ago the folly of whipping as a punishment," said Mr. Farmer. "but many parents have not. Whipping may check vice, but it inspires fear, and therefore it checks virtue, too. A child taught to fear punishment will be a coward in later years.

"Of course it is unfair to a child not to punish him for wrongdoing, but punishment should leave the impulse to do good after it. It should carry with it a 'hand up' rather than a push down."

"Preventive discipline is becoming recognized as essential. It means an effort on the parent's part to avoid punishment by fore-stalling disorder. Discipline is as much a test of the parent as it is of the child. Happy children seldom err. The wise parent keeps the children happy. When the danger point comes the child's energies should be diverted into new channels and then many a disobedient act would be left undone."

"Preventive discipline does not mean snatching away temptation," he continued, "for children should be taught self-control, to face the world and win out. The tendency of many parents to take all their children's burdens for them has a decidedly weakening effect."

Johnny Cross, diminutive Santa Ana high school tennis champion, got away to a good start in his fight for the interscholastic singles title at the Ojai valley invitational tournament, play in which began yesterday.

Cross won his way into the second round by disposing of Mortiz Milburn of Thatcher high school in straight sets, 6-2, 6-0.

Paired with Randolph Bell, second singles player at Poly, Cross also went into the second flight of the interscholastic doubles matches by eliminating Clark and Dow of Sweetwater high school in easy fashion, 6-1, 6-3.

Bell did not fare so well as Cross in his singles match, being defeated after three hard-fought sets, by Cacheo of Los Angeles high school, 7-9, 6-1, 6-4.

Miss Persanne Deimling, Santa Ana junior college player, was defeated in the intercollegiate women's tourney by Miss Lois Morris of the San Diego junior college. The score was 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Josephine Crookshank of Santa Ana lost her match in the all-comers woman division to Miss Eleanor Aeson after three long sets, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Other Orange county players entered in the Ojai matches fared as follows:

Arthur Gilmore (Anaheim) lost to Thomas Clark (Ojai) 6-4, 6-1.

Theron Wilson (Fullerton) lost to Norval Craig (Huntington Park) 6-2, 6-4.

William Switzler (Fullerton) lost to Howard Shaw (San Diego) 6-4, 6-1.

Fred Amsbury (Anaheim) lost to George Locke (Ventura) 6-4, 8-6.

In The Big Leagues

Ninth inning rallies which produced two runs in the first game and one in the second gave the Giants a double-header from the Braves, both by scores of 4 to 3.

With his second homer in two days, Jimmy Dykes won his second game for the Athletics, who defeated the Senators, 4 to 2.

Myatt's single and doubles by Gardner and Jamieson, two pinch hitters, gave the Indians two runs in the 11th inning and they beat the White Sox, 6 to 5.

Babe Ruth hit a triple and a single in three times up and scored two runs, the Yanks defeating the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 2.

Hack Miller's homer with two on base helped the Cubs beat the Pirates, 10 to 5. Russell, Kelleher and Tierney also hit homers.

Two errors by Sands in the ninth with the bases filled gave Brooklyn two runs, but the Phils won out, 10 to 3.

Hornby hit two doubles and a triple in four times up and the Cards won from the Reds, 11 to 8.

Heilman hit a double and two singles in five times up and scored two runs, helping the Tigers to beat the Browns, 8 to 3.

YANKS HAVE CLASS OF LEAGUE, CLAIM
Kinks o' the LinksFarrell Says Hugmen Look
Cinch to Cop Title;
Ruth Adds SpiritBY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 20.—Two games are all too few in which to judge a ball club, but right now the New York Yanks are of unmistakable class. As they are getting away in the pennant chase they look a cinch and ought to improve as the season gets older.

The Yanks have always had a good club, but they are now acting for the first time like a ball club. There are no new faces on the team that won the 1922 pennant, but they are a greatly improved club. The spirit seems to be there now; and that was the only thing they lacked in the past.

Babe Ruth is the heart of the whole team. The big fellow is playing a beautiful game. He is in physical condition to do his work in the garden and on the bases and he is hitting like a demon.

Erin Ward is also a greatly improved second baseman. On the game he is playing now he has no more than two superiors in the league. His morale was none too high last season, but he is out now to show the critics who are asking for his scalp all winter.

The defense of the team is greatly improved. With Bob Meusel showing all kinds of life and with Ruth playing a whale of a game, Whitey Witt's territory in center has been reduced and the once weak outer defense has been transformed.

It has often been said that the team hits when Babe Ruth is hitting, and the Babe sure is hitting. The team is mauling with him. Perhaps the Detroit Tigers have a more formidable array of sluggers than the Yanks, but no team can deliver better than the Yanks have been doing when hits meant runs.

ORANGE NET TEAM
DEFEATS ANAHEIM(Special to The Register)
ORANGE, April 20.—The second round of the Orange county tennis league resulted in a 12-1 victory for the Orange squad over the Anaheim team. The boys' matches were played Tuesday at Orange and far exceeded the girls' meet, which occurred the following day, interest.

Little competition was experienced by the visitors except in boys' fourth singles, which they lost.

The scores were as follows:

Johnson, (O) d. Larounger, (A) 6-3, 7-5; L. Hallman, (O) d. Watts (A) 6-2, 6-4; F. Hallman, (O) d. Daly, (A) 6-0, 6-0; Settle, (O) d. Adams (A) 6-4, 6-4.

Johnson and L. Hallman, (O) d. Larounger and Watts, (A) 6-2, 6-3; F. Hallman and Settle, (O) d. Daly and Adams, (A) 6-0, 6-0; Woodrow and Anderson (O) d. Poirier and Clow (A) 6-2, 6-3.

Murphy, (O) d. Gilmore, (A) 6-3, 6-2; Smith, (O) d. Amsbury, (A) 6-0, 6-2; Anaheim d. Archibald (O) 4-6, 6-4, 7-5; Price, (O) d. Anaheim, 6-3, 6-3.

Murphy and Smith, (O) d. Gilmore and Amsbury, (A) 6-2, 6-1; Archibald and Price, (O) won 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

Watching the Rookies

Willie Kamm, White Sox third baseman, singled twice in five times up, scored one run and accepted four chances.

Kunz, Pittsburgh pitcher, was found for five runs and two hits in three innings and accepted one chance in the field.

Sands, Phil shortstop, let in two runs in the ninth inning with two of his three errors on eight chances, and hit a triple in four times up.

Jimmy O'Connell, Giant out-fielder, hit safely once in four times up, stole a base and delivered on one chance.

The attack, he says, was pre-ceded by an eerie song. Metzger declared he looked up when he heard his assistant singing, then returned to his work, paying no further attention. A second later, he says, the man was astride his back, smashing his face with the shears. Metzger asserts his nose was broken, his eye injured, and his face deeply gashed.

The alleged lunatic, he declares, was guaranteed by the city employment department to be a competent landscape gardener.

All-Southern MeetTo Stage Classic Here On April 28; Special Races

Golf is a jealous mistress and one of her strongest lures to lead players into disastrous temptation is to incite them to knock the cover off the ball.

If there is any department in which most golfers, new or old, like to excel, it is that of long hitting.

The beginner who attempts to hit with all his power practically forfeits his chances of becoming a good golfer. It is the rhythm of the stroke, the perfect timing, that sends the ball a long way.

You will see powerfully built men, with blacksmith arms and powerful shoulders, unable to hit within yards of diminutive chaps of frail physique.

Why?

Because ten to one the big man's power is three-quarters wasted, force of the stroke may be wasted on the back swing, or on the first part of the downward stroke.

The frail chap, through proper pivoting, supple wrists and smoothness of the swing has his club head traveling at maximum velocity when it comes in contact with the ball.

With a smooth, rhythmic swing, you will be surprised how far the ball will go without the expenditure of every ounce of strength.

Even Abe Mitchell, tremendous hitter that he is, usually has something "up his sleeve" for use when occasion calls for extra distance. But when he "presses," it is for a purpose, and he knows that he will be sure to hit the ball where and as he intends.

Just to show the youngsters that they can still get out and jump a bit, Fred Kelly, former world champion high hurdler and winner of that event in the 1912 Olympic Games, and Fred (Feg) Murray, former Stanford star and still holder of the National Intercollegiate meet record for the low hurdles, will hook up in a flight of high sticks.

Athletes from at least five high schools were to practice on the Santa Ana track this afternoon. Coach Ray Atkinson of Santa Ana was to have his entrants in the big meet don their suits for a brief workout. Ray Walker expected to bring his Huntington Beach team up from the oil fields for some action and Coach Nun of Fullerton planned to send his charges through their paces here.

Lincoln Stars Practice

Tommy Davis of Lincoln high school sent word to Morrison that he expected to have his athletes warm up this afternoon in order to get accustomed to the Poly oval. Several Long Beach high school stars also were to come for a little limbering up exercise.

Workmen are busily engaged in giving the local track and the jumping pits into first class condition. The school borrowed a big steam roller from the city and used it to advantage along the 220 straightaway and around the quarter-mile track. The track was dragged yesterday and then sprinkled. This process will be repeated a couple of times next week.

Indications are that every available seat will be taken when the first event is called. While Seth F. V. Patten, manager of the meet for the C. I. F., has sent no tickets here many persons have requested reservations at the high school, it was learned. Large delegations will come to Santa Ana from virtually every city in Southern California. Plans are being made at Huntington Beach to send every student in the high school and a big bunch of townspeople here to root for the oil diggers who are believed to have an excellent chance to annex a victory.

EDINBURGH, April 20.—A grave, believed to be 2000 years old, has been discovered in Kincardineshire, Scotland. Digging on his farm, a Catterline farmer came upon a peculiarly marked slab about four feet below the surface, and under this were four other slabs of larger size. Beneath all was a full-size human skeleton. Antiquarians pronounce the grave to be typical of the Bronze Age, and experts are further investigating the discovery.

Get health—Keep health—Feel fine
by eating Kellogg's Bran regularly!

Constipation and the toxic poisons that come from it not only take the enthusiasm out of life, making you depressed and physically and mentally dull—but they lead you into diseases such as Bright's disease, rheumatism, etc. You can actually rid yourself of these dangers if you will EAT KELLOGG'S BRAN REGULARLY!—at least two tablespoonsfuls daily; in chronic cases with every meal!

Kellogg's Bran is nature's most wonderful food. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that as no other food can! Don't take a chance of "getting away" with constipation—IT WILL GET YOU! Don't ruin your health with pills and cathartics—they are as dangerous as constipation itself and give but temporary relief, at the very best!

What you should do for your family and for yourself is to serve Kellogg's Bran every day, in any one of several attractive ways, and fight constipation as you have never fought it before! AND YOU WILL WIN.

In the first place, Kellogg's Bran is delicious in its nut-like flavor, adding greatly to any cereal with which it is used. Eat bran as a cereal with hot milk, or mix it with hot cereal before serving. Another method is to cook Kellogg's Bran with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonsfuls of bran for each person. A popular way is to sprinkle bran on hot or cold cereal. Bran makes wonderful bakery products. Recipes are printed on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is served in leading hotels, restaurants and clubs. It is sold by all grocers.

The Deadliest Temptation of all

—It is times like these that test the sincerity of a house's devotion to quality standards.

—As always, in a rising market, the temptation to skimp, to shade down the quality, to have eyes for one thing alone—PRICE, is terrific.

—For a merchant to offer cheapened merchandise is the surest way to loss of public confidence.

—One thing a man will not forgive—putting on his back clothing robbed of quality merely to hold out a price bait.

—This store's pledge to you is that there will be no lowering of our standard, no yielding to a temporary price clamor, our quality reputation will be maintained unaltered and unimpaired.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

Lesson for April 22. Ex. 14:10, 13-22. MOSES: LIBERATOR AND LAWGIVER.

"And Moses said unto the people, Fear not, stand still, and see the salvation of Jehovah, which will work for you today." v. 13. A writer of sacred history says, "There came a man, sent from God, whose name was John." This was said of John the Baptist the forerunner of Christ. But John was not the first whose mission it was to "make ready for the Lord a people prepared for him." He was the last of these God-sent men till "when the fulness of time was come, God sent his Son." For some instrutable reason, there were ages of preparation for the coming of Christ.

In Abraham a family was chosen to keep the lamp of righteousness burning, and through Moses a nation was released from bondage and preserved for this purpose. As Moses was looking at "the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed," God said unto him, "Come now therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt."

God's Strange Schools

It was Moses' graduation day. For eighty years he had been going to school to God. When God is fitting a man to do a great work he keeps him in school a long time. And such strange schools as God has in which to educate men! So strange that we know by this that they are God's schools. And no two of them alike. Stephen says that "Moses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians." So the idolatrous and heathen Egyptian teachers of Moses were his instructors by the will of God! Did Moses know this? He might have known it just as you and I may know: whoevers has unwavering faith in God is assured thereby that, whatever schools and schoolmasters he may have, God is teaching him. God fully prepares every liberator, leader and lawgiver of his before sending him forth on his mission. Moses' first teacher was his mother, and she was a most remarkable woman. We know this to a certainty, though we have, directly concerning her, but little more than the mention of her name. But we do know much about her three children, Moses, Aaron and Miriam. No man or woman who achieved great things for the betterment of the world, and so became famous and great, ever lived who did not have a great mother. When God has a peculiarly hard task for a man to do he first creates for him a suitable mother—Jochebed for Moses, a Nancy Hanks for Abraham Lincoln, the Virgin Mary for Jesus.

"Stand still, and see the salvation of God." That sounds just like Moses had heard it a thousand times from the lips of his mother—as, indeed, he must, as she told the remarkable story of Joseph's life to her children, always ending with Joseph's dying prediction: "I die; and God will surely visit you, and bring you out of this land unto the land which I have sworn to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob."

Then there followed the forty years of exile and obscurity. For two score years Moses was a shepherd—and a student. As he tended Hobab's flocks and herds, going from place to place, he was learning the geography of the Sinaitic wilderness, through which he was to lead the children of Israel. If you believe in God, as Moses did, count nothing trivial that you may be compelled to learn by force of circumstances. Moses did not know at the time why all the hills, mountains and valleys in "the great and terrible wilderness" were becoming familiar to him. When he became the liberator and leader of thousands upon thousands of slaves, then he understood. But, most of all, while acting the part of a shepherd, Moses was a student of theology. The man who is to be a liberator of other men—either their bodies, minds or souls—must get so close to God that he can tell him what to do.

God and You

"Jehovah will fight for you. Go forward—" v. 14, 15. God will do his part, if you will do yours. He helps those who help themselves. He protects, by the cloud of his presence, a forward movement, but not a retreat. When God commands an advance, even though the Red Sea be imminent, there are fewer difficulties in front than at the rear. It takes a man like Moses, with supreme faith in God, to inspire the timid, hesitating and doubtful with this fact. To retrograde is to face disaster.

Liberator, Leader, Legislator

As the life of Moses falls into three divisions of forty years each, so his distinguishing characteristics are three: liberator, leader, legislator, and important in the order named, for useless quite the last without the first. Whoever would make laws for any people should have towards them the spirit and aim of being their liberator. Our forefathers of the Revolution had this spirit to a very marked degree, and such lawmakers as they were! Not since the Decalog of Moses and the Golden Rule of Jesus has there been anything to equal our own Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. The Author of the Golden Rule, which is an epitome of all just laws, said of himself, "If therefore the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." And what a lawmaker Lincoln, the emancipator of four million slaves, would have been. Another Moses, had he lived!

ANAHEIM MAY GET HEADQUARTERS OF BUILDING EXCHANGE

ANAHEIM, April 20.—Rumors that Anaheim is to be the location for the Orange County Builders' exchange headquarters were current here today following a visit by A. N. Norris, Southern California Builders' exchange representative. It is thought the headquarters probably will be established here since it had been the opinion of county builders that an exchange was needed for cities in this vicinity. The work of the exchange for this county has been handled by headquarters in Los Angeles, but with the rapid growth of Orange county cities it is now considered advisable to make Anaheim the center of the building district.

His subject will be, "The Sick Man Who Smiled"—Robert Louis Stevenson.

BEACH RANCHER LEAVES HEIRS RICH ESTATE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 20.—An example of the fortitude of the early Oregon pioneers was seen here this week when it was learned that Lewis C. Preston, who died Tuesday had left an estate which will total several hundred thousand dollars in valuable oil land here and 700 acres of rich wheat acreage near Pendleton, Ore.

When Mr. Preston arrived in the Cold Springs district of Oregon he had a team of mules, a wife and ten cents. While others returned to the comforts of life in the east he stuck and spent the first winter in a cabin without a floor. Through the long hard winters he remained and today is one of the very few original settlers who retained homestead land. The land would sell today at $200 an acre easily.

With his family he came to Huntington Beach in 1904 and land which he bought a low price later were found to have under them the precious "black gold."

The children are William Preston of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Estella A. Scott of Pentleton, Ore., Harold R. Preston of Pasadena and Clarence L. Preston of Pendleton.

A PUZZLE A DAY

The professor of higher mathematics gave his students five numbered blocks, as shown above. "Use any, or all of them," he said, "and see who can form the largest answer."

Several of the scholars arranged the blocks to form 86510, until one of them turned the 6 upside down, and formed 98510. The brightest scholar, however, produced an answer that was even larger. Can you duplicate his feat?

Yesterday's answer:

"In three years my son will be three times as old as he was three years ago." The son is now six years old. Three years from now he will be nine, which is three times three—and three was his age three years ago, as he is now six.

INDIAN MAIDS HAVE COMING OUT PARTIES

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Aristocratic modern society, with its coming-out parties for debutantes, has nothing on the Washoe Indians of Nevada, who have a unique dance given to every young girl of the tribe publicly announcing she is ready for marriage, according to a report received by Secretary of the Interior Work from the superintendent of the Reno Indian reservation in Nevada.

The dance or ceremony is called "the girl's dance," and the girl who is the central figure eats nothing for a period of four days. On the fourth night the dance is held, beginning at 8 o'clock in the evening and continuing until sunrise the following morning.

It consists of the Indians joining hands in a circle and moving by short dance steps sideways around the ring, humming a sort of chant without words or meaning. The girl, accompanied by some older woman, evidently a chaperon carries a long staff to support her because of her weakness through loss of food during her fast, weaves in and out of the dance, joining in the steps.

As the dance proceeds late into the night the family of the girl gives money and other possessions to the dancers to keep them moving and to induce others to join in the dance, the greatest number of dances signifying the popularity of the family. Shortly after midnight a big feast is given by the girl's relatives, all present participating.

S. F. SCHOOL BOARD WANTS $5,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO. April 20.—San Francisco's public schools will require $158,819 during the next fiscal year if they are to be properly operated and maintained, according to estimates furnished in the 1922-24 budget adopted by the board of education this week. The appropriations asked for, which are 8.1 per cent above those allowed this year, will be analyzed by members of the educational body on Saturday morning at a special hearing on the finance committee of the board of supervisors.

One of the important features of the new budget is the request that the former appropriation of $900 for salaries of directors and superintendent of schools, be increased to $15,000. This is in conformity with the decision of the board to pay a substantially increased salary to the new superintendent of schools, who remains to be chosen from a list of nationally known educators.

TURKISH SOLDIERS MUTILATE BODY OF AMERICAN WAR HERO

WASHINGTON, April 20.—State department agents designated to investigate charges that Turkish soldiers had mutilated the coffin of George Diboly, an American soldier to whom a congressional medal of honor was awarded after he met his death in the World War, have confirmed them.

Diboly was of Greek extraction and lived in Somerville, Mass., at the time he enlisted in the 26th Division. He went to France with that organization and was killed in action near Bellau. At the request of his parents, whose home was in Alachata, a small town near Smyrna, the body was sent there for burial.

The report of the investigators showed that the coffin had been placed in the Orthodox Greek church at Alachata, pending interment. The town was taken by Turkish soldiers during their advance on Smyrna last September.

Representations to the Turkish government were made by Rear-Admiral Mark Bristol.

PLENTY OF SHORTCAKE

What if spring is slow to come in the North or other troubles harass the South? The United States bureau of agricultural economics promises the nation the biggest strawberry shortcake ever!

Estimates from the strawberry producing regions indicate that this year's crop will exceed last year's by no less than 17,740 carloads of this luscious fruit. Florida, alone, is said to be turning out something like 110 per cent more strawberries this year than last. Although a few states show a decrease, most of them have greatly increased crops.

Time was when Orange county grew great quantities of strawberries and blackberries and other berries. A section to the northwest of Santa Ana and east of Garden Grove was named Berrydale, and the road still goes by that name. But orchards have crowded out most of the lowly vines and the brambles.

Though berry growing has given way in some sections to more profitable crops, other sections of the county are growing more berries than they did in former years. But our consumption of berries has outstripped production. Strawberries have become one of our county's imports; the keenness of the edge of our appetites for shortcake and jam has not been dulled. True, we think there is no strawberry quite so sweet as the one grown in Orange county, and if possible we want our produce dealers to give us home-county berries, but if our ranchers find it more profitable to grow oranges and lemons and walnuts, as they do, we must be satisfied with berries brought in by motor truck from fields further away.

GERMANY AND ENGLAND

A committee of Scottish labor members of the British parliament, who recently visited the Ruhr district, came home and reported:

"We saw no queues of unemployed men at employment exchanges; nor did raggedness and outward signs of poverty obtrude themselves on our notice. Snow covered the ground and comfortably clothed children could be seen everywhere sledding, snowballing and building snowmen. There appeared to be a higher standard of comfort."

In England, as everybody knows, there is great distress. England's "third workless winter" is just ended, and the government is still paying unemployment doles to about 1,000,000 people to keep them from starving. The number of workers out of work was estimated, a month ago, at 1,364,000, equivalent to more than 3,000,000 in this country. The chief distress falls upon the more highly skilled workmen and their families.

The contrast is marked. Yet there are reports from Germany of another sort. An intelligent young American, just back from a visit to relatives in that country, says: "The situation in Germany is unbelievable—bad beyond anything imagined in the United States. It can't last much longer. Six months more of it, and Germany will go Bolshevik."

The reader can take his choice of views about Germany. One thing, however, seems sure. Industrial conditions are at least as bad in England as they are in Germany. Yet there is no talk of Bolshevism in England, and England is taking care of all its war obligations, keeping its financial system sound and upholding its business credit and national honor. British hardship is largely due to this stern living up to British obligations.

Critics of the League of Nations seem to be divided mainly into two classes—those who object to it because it has too much authority and those who object because it hasn't any authority at all.

THE MATERNITY BILL SUIT

Nine states have filed briefs through their attorneys general in support of the Sheppard-Towner maternity law which the state of Massachusetts is fighting in the United States supreme court. The states which have gone on record for the bill are Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The state of Massachusetts is not fighting the law because the commonwealth disapproves of child and maternity welfare. Many activities within the state give proof to the contrary. The contention that the act as it now exists is an invasion of states rights under the Tenth amendment.

It is difficult to predict what the supreme court decision will be. It is to be hoped it will uphold the law. Most of the states approve the measure. Many already are taking advantage of its provisions. If the act is declared unconstitutional serious complications will result. There also is danger that adverse influences will take advantage of the decision to set child and maternal welfare far back from the vantage point to which it has won through long, painful struggle.

There are intimations from Paris that the French occupation of the Ruhr is going to be a complete success—meaning that Germany once more will promise to pay.

OLD-FASHIONED HOMES

"Bring back the old-fashioned living room table, the front porch swing, and, if you really want to taste romantic joy again, take out the old one-hoss shay. Above all, beware of the automobile." This is the counsel of Mrs. Janet Heckman, prominent in Oklahoma life.

Mrs. Heckman's plea is for the re-establishment of the old-fashioned home in which parents and children gather happily, to read, to work, to play and to sing together. She thinks the automobile is the greatest menace of such a home and this is what she says of it:

"The automobile, one of our greatest and most useful modern inventions, yet highly destructive of our youth, has robbed the home of much of its former charm and interest for the child and in many instances for the parent as well."

All that is needed to offset the lure of the road she feels in homes which are centers of wholesome family interest instead of mere points of departure from which to rush off in a mad pursuit of excitement. In such domiciles she sees the cure for much juvenile delinquency.

There is a certain amount of wisdom in these suggestions. The automobile itself, of course, is not the cause of modern troubles with youth, but a little more wisdom in the use of this serviceable tool would not come amiss. The suggestions are especially timely now when the period for unlimited joy riding is upon the land with all its restless urge especially for the young.

"Military experts" suggest 16-inch guns to defend those Panama Canal locks against air bombs. What's the idea? Point 'em straight up in the air and load 'em with buckshot?

Look To the West

San Diego Union.

An eastern newspaper man—or perhaps he is a journalist—has just announced his firm intention of writing a series of 25 special articles dealing with the important centers of the United States. The articles will be sold for publication by an eastern syndicate.

Of the 25 threatened features, only two—according to the announcement—will deal with Pacific coast cities. The two cities chosen are Portland, Ore., and San Francisco.

The fact that this is an eastern enterprise perhaps sufficiently explains the apparently slight attention to be bestowed upon the Pacific coast. We of the coast will probably stagger along very nicely under the blow of this journalist's indifference, but it would certainly be a kindness to some of the modern wise men of the east to mention the fact that no picture of these United States which so disregards this coast's present importance can be true or very informative.

It is the activity of the west coast which, of all points in the United States today, most truly points to the future. It is here on the west coast that the developments which will most clearly and characteristically mark the commercial future will come. The Panama canal has given the Pacific ports an importance which the east still does not realize, and misleading "surveys" like the one just described only serve to keep the nation still in ignorance of the great things that are in progress out here.

Production, commerce and living conditions in California all offer surprising material to the open-minded investigator who wants to present a true picture of a striking situation—and this picture cannot be grasped by a casual visit to a single city.

Of course it is idle to plead with eastern journalism to take cognizance of these facts. The facts remain, whether the special writers and newspaper "surveyors" recognize them or not. Some day, however, the east and its wise men will awake to the fact that they have not followed one of the stupendous fields of development which America holds today.

It really doesn't make a great deal of difference whether the east, generally, recognizes the true conditions on the Pacific coast. The capitalists and business men seeking opportunities that show promise have already awakened to a large extent to what is going on here. They are coming to the Pacific coast in increasing numbers. Southern California—and San Diego—are receiving a growing share of this attention.

The eastern newspaper man—or journalist—will have to travel rapidly, or by the time he reaches the coast he'll find more than he can "cover" in his two promised articles.

English Girls To Emigrate

San Francisco Chronicle.

For approximately 100 years prior to the World War England had done little for her young women, especially those faced with the necessity of earning a living. Spasmodic efforts had been made to help the young men who wanted to emigrate to the colonies, but the young women had been virtually ignored. Today, largely owing to the remarkable service rendered by women during war times, and also due to the fact that England has 2,000,000 more women than men, the interests of the women are being given attention.

Miss Gladys Pott, whose activity on behalf of English women, has gained the admiration and confidence of the British empire, has been named a member of the British Overseas Settlement Delegation, now on its way to Australia. She says it is a bad idea to populate a new land with young men unless you send some nice girls to the same place. If the girls find husbands—and there are many potentially good husbands among the settlers in Australia—so much the better she thinks.

The reader can take his choice of views about Germany. One thing, however, seems sure. Industrial conditions are at least as bad in England as they are in Germany. Yet there is no talk of Bolshevism in England, and England is taking care of all its war obligations, keeping its financial system sound and upholding its business credit and national honor. Winshield Rules

A Washington, D. C., newspaper publishes a set of rules which it suggests should be pasted on the windshield of every car, to remind the motorist of his responsibility. Here are the rules:

Respect the rights of pedestrians.

Cheerfully obey the traffic officer. He protects you as well as the pedestrians.

Keep to the right of the road.

When turning, begin bearing in toward turn at least a block away.

Go slowly around corners.

Give pedestrians plenty of room—if in doubt, stop.

Mutual forbearance and courtesy make friends.

Read the motor vehicle laws and traffic regulations.

On slippery roads drive with extreme caution.

A child on the highway is a danger signal. Slow up, and if in doubt, stop.

Reckless drivers are the enemies of all careful motorists.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking my new dog Yargo a walk, me jest wawking and him following me to prove whose dog he was, and I saw Maund Jonsons kid sister Dottie setting on her front steps with their yello cat, me yelling at her, Hay there, get that cat in, do you want it to get killed?

Dottie Jonson just setting there, and I yelled, Hay there, aint you got any cents, this dog will eat that cat up.

My cat has a perfect rite to sit on his own front steps, don't you dare let that ugly dog touch him, Dottie Jonson said.

You better not leave him here you call him ugly, that all I got to say, I sed. And you better get that cat in, too, you can't say I didn't warn you, I sed.

Wich just then Yargo saw the cat and started to run tord him, Dottie Jonson yelling, Go away go away, and me yelling, Come here Yargo, come back here.

Wich Yargo didn't, running rite up to the cat and starting to wag his tale, like anything as if he didn't know a cat from a dog, the cat looking back at him and sticking its back part way up as if it knew Yargo was a dogs all rite, and all of a suddin Yargo started to lick the cat face and the cat gave him a feare crack on the ear with its paw and knocked him rite off the steps, Dottie Jonson saying, There, whose cat's afraid of your ugly old dog?

He's jest too polite to bite him, has all, because he knows I dont want him to, but dont you ever leave this dog see that cat wen Im not around, that all I got to say, I sed.

And I kepp on wawking and Yargo kepp on following me, me giving him a feare tawking too, saying, Wat the hecks the matter with you, dont you know a friend from an enemy. The next time you see a cat and act like that Im going to have you good, I sed.

Not having much effect on account of Yargo trying to kiss 3 more cats since then, making me think he may not have quite as much cents as wat I thawt he had.
